September Curriculum Study: IN THIS TOGETHER!

Ask the typical Christian teenager what is needed to grow spiritually, and you will probably hear things like “read the Bible” and “pray.” The tendency is to focus spiritual growth on what the individual does. While these things are certainly true, spiritual growth happens in the context of relationships: interacting with others, learning from others, ministering and witnessing to others. This study is important for teenagers because the very thing they crave—relationships—is the very thing that can impact their growth in Christ.

Students will be challenged to make their faith known. Relationships is a category under the umbrella of Known, and this study will address the issue of relationships in church life, mentoring, ministry, and evangelism.

(For more information on the strategy to make their faith known, see the Student Strategy at : <http://www.lifeway.com/studentstrategy/>.)
